3 pm - 5 pm

Basic Knowledge On SARS-CoV-2 And COVID-19

There is no disease threatening people more than COVID-19 these days. While infectious diseases are implemented in most curricula in life sciences and pharmacy, we are witnessing the evolution of a completely new viral disease and the new knowledge increases from month to month.

This online seminar provides a comprehensive overview on the basic knowledge of this novel viral disease regarding epidemiology, molecular biology, pathophysiology, immunology and pharmacology (including natural products).
